Incarnation School Mission Madness Update

A special Thank You to all those that contributed to the Mission Madness Coin Collection. Incarnation School community will donate $3293.51 to three Catholic mission schools in Bangladesh, South Africa, and the Marianist school in Jharkland, India. The average yearly budget for each of the three schools is $5,000 and each school educates or houses over 1,000 children.

Thank you so much for your generous donations.

Digital Missionary Disciples

Sr. Angela Ann, Director of the Institute for Pastoral Initiatives at the University of Dayton, visited the 1st and 2nd graders this week to discuss the topic of being digital disciples of Jesus. She shared the importance of spreading the word of God and the message of Jesus with the children. The children were given examples of people throughout history who have made a difference by being a messenger for Jesus and the students left the presentation as "Digital Missionary Disciples"! Sr.

Angela Ann's enthusiasm to go forth and spread Jesus' message via the digital age in which we live and doing it in a faithful and responsible way is infectious!

SCIENCE STUDENTS ADVANCE TO STATE COMPETITION

Twenty seven Incarnation Jr. High students competed at the West District Science Day on Saturday, March 19 at Central State University. They presented the Science Fair projects they had researched and tested throughout the year and had already presented at school and county competitions. The students again represented Incarnation in a very positive way with special awards being presented to Justin Boumalhab, Christine Gulas, Charlotte Kunesh and Nick Pitrof. A superior ranking of their presentation resulted in a student qualifying to take part in the State Science Day to be held at Ohio State University on May 14. Those who qualified are: Joseph Abboud, Nick Abuyuan, Derek Borsody, Justin Boumalhab, Matthew Buerschen, Lauren Doorley, Christine Gulas, Rachael Harker, Charlotte Kunesh, Peyton Kuntz, Grace Mangold, Renee Palmer, Nick Pitrof, Lillian Smith, and Ethan Stuart. ### Girl Scout Troop 34506 "I Live My Faith"

Incarnation Girl Scout Junior Troop 34506 spent this past weekend in prayer, working on their special religious award, "I Live My Faith." Josie Astahoff, Lauren Berry, Kaitlyn Berry, Kayden Routson, Rachel Rubertus, and Kyrstin Schilens spent the weekend understanding more about what Catholics believe. They focused on the sacraments that are important to the Catholic Faith, including Baptism, Reconciliation, and Communion. The girls also spent time in prayer learning more about applying the Corporal Works of Mercy to Catholic social teachings. To put the discussions into action, the girls helped stock the Springboro Food Pantry, collected diapers for a "diaper drive," and donated Girl Scout cookies to Dayton Children's Hospital. The girls will receive their "I Live My Faith" Award at Fanning's Faith Eternal Flame Celebration and Award Ceremony at the Cathedral of St. Peter in Chains in Cincinnati on April 3, 2016! Troop Leaders: Jackie Astahoff, Evelyn Berry and Jenniffer Schilens
